Derech Eretz Expectations

Treat others the way you want to be treated

The Arthur Guttmanstein Religious School strives to create a positive, interactive and safe learning environment.

Our Rabbi taught us that all learning is a sacred activity. We take seriously our responsibility to create a positive, engaged classroom environment, respectful of teacher and student alike. Our faculty consistently strives to provide the best learning experience we can.

To foster this type of exemplary community of young boys and girls, we depend on everyone – students, parents, and teachers – to conduct themselves in a manner that is respectful, considerate and reverent.

As such, we want families to read, understand and acknowledge our behavioral expectations and consequences.

Consequences

1. First Course of Action: Should any student display inappropriate, disruptive behavior:

- The teacher will speak privately with the student to:
 - a) Restate classroom rules and expectations
 - b) Understand and appreciate the student's perspective
- The teacher will notify the parent and the Educational Director regarding the conversation
- The Educational Director will review the events with the teacher

2. Second Course of Action: Should inappropriate, disruptive behavior continue:

- A meeting with the parent and child will take place to:
 - a) Restate the class rules and expectations
 - b) Review the behavior that required such a meeting
 - c) Create a shared plan for the future
 - d) Outline any future consequences should the behavior continue

3. Third Course of Action: If inappropriate, disruptive behavior continues:

- The student will be sent to the office and the parent will be contacted
- The Educational Director will speak with the student, parent and teacher to make suggestions to encourage respectful behavior and restate the consequences

4. Fourth Course of Action: If inappropriate, disruptive behavior continues still:

- The student will be sent to the office and the parent will be called and asked to pick up the student
- The student will remain in the office until the parent arrives
- Any missed class work will need to be completed at home and brought in the next class

5. Final Course of Action: As a final resort, if all previous efforts prove ineffective, the school reserves the right to ask the child to leave the school.
